

Rain

It's raining out there
And it feels like the weather is reflecting my mood
Or maybe my mood is just a reflection of the weather
Either way, it's grey and damp,
Gloomy and uncomfortable.

But that's what I like best
I always set myself up for disasters,
Abandonments and disappointments.
I should learn.

Instead I replay the same scenarios
Again and again,
Different time, different place,
Different face, same result.

I still hope, one day it will work out right
A time, a place, a face that will not bulge
Carry the weight for me and then some Change my own private rain into a little light.
