

Why

Why should I be the one who's strong?
Why do you rely on me?
Am I so easy to understand, so calm
Always there, on time, helping
But who asked me what my wishes are
It's not my dream, it's not my play
I wanna be mad, I wanna be bad
Not the best, just another weird one more

Why should I be the one who's strong?
Why come to me for advice?
Do you think I know better how to solve your problem?
But my life is not half fixed as yours
I'm the one still trying
Nothing is clear by you, nothing is easy for me
Not a space in my life where chaos is not leading
Let me rest, let me search some more

Why should I be the one who's strong?
Why should I be resisting
You know this temptation is there because of you
I used to play with men's weakness
But today I need you to be strong
It's not good for you, it's not good for me
It's just too easy, it's just too tempting
Just a taste, leaving us wanting more
